New READING BOOK for Schools.

THE MONITORIAL READER, or a Monitor to Youth, holding up to their view Models whereby to form their own Characters. By DANIEL ADAMS, Author of Adams's New Arithmetic. EXTRACTS FROM THE PREFACE.

"THE MONITORIAL READER possesses distinctive traits. The object is to supply what is be-lieved to be the great desideratum in our schools a series of exercises relating to what concerns the practical matters of life-truth, integrity, honesty, industry, temperance, forethought, frugality, putient endurance of adversity, and whatever else tends to form and fix the character of youth,

We wish to impress it on the minds of those, into whose hands these exercises shall come, now, in this seed-time of life, what is here so abundantly inculcated, that 'Every man is emphatically the architect of his own fortune' that with themselves it lies whether they shall ever be any thing or nothing that a monied capital to begin with does not weigh a whit in the balance for or against them that, coming into life with health, strength, capacity for labor, good education, a useful and respectable trade, hab its of industry, sobriety, punctuality, frugality, and, above all, with a GOOD AND UNSULLIED bonorable accumulation and fortune, and may be directed, will strengthen the system and prevent the sure, under circumstances ordinarily propitious, to accumulation of the base humors which infest the reasonable and virtuous ambition.

EXTRACTS FROM RECOMMENDATIONS. The influence will all be found on the side of virtue, morality and religion. Occasional comments are given. Difficult or unusual words are defined. Prose and poetry are suitably intermingled.

It is hardly to be imagined that this book should fail of popularity. It certainly would not, had it not so feets, that time and space habid an attempt to put Promise of ultimate success in the contest. Boston wrapper and directions that come with them.

FRAUDULENT-COUNTERFEITS Recorder.

Dr. Adams: Having examined to some extent your Monitorial Reader. I am pleased with its plan, its object, and the manner in which it has been executed. It seems adapted to the intellectual and moral improvement of those for whose use it was 1341, by Thos. Connel, in the Clerk's Office of the designed. I trust it will prove to be what its author | District Court of the United States for the Southern designed. I trust it will prove to be what its author fondly anticipates. (Rev.) Z. S. BARSTOW, Keene. It is just such a book as our New England boys

"Equal to Boston."

In reading a column of proof a day or two since, we came across the above caption, at the head of an advertisement, and we thought it would make a good subject for a few remarks.

Those of our citizens who know what Bangor was many years since, will recollect, how few things could then be obtained here "equal to Boston." Beef " hearts and skirts, rusty pork, and poor goods were brought here from Boston, in exchange for the salmon and shad, of our river, and the lumber that grew upon its banks. These were peddled out from the vessels in instead of their uniting to sustain each other, under the editorial care of Dr. E. In carriages of splendid finish, beautiful model, and durability, it ought not to be necessary to say that Whiton & Co. manufacture those, that it would be no compliment to say, are "equal to Boston."

Of boots and shoes, hats, bonnets, and the almost endless variety of articles of personal and household comfort, our people are daily making a woful mistake that they do not give that encouragement to home manufacture, that shall make it in all respects, " equal to Boston."

. Without undertaking to enumerate farther, let ne consider for a moment, what would now be the condition of Bangor, if every man in it had for years past, encouraged all the branches of business that can be profitably carried on here "equal to Boston." Instead for a long series of years importing here millions of dollars worth of the manufactures of other States, the profit on the labor of which has aided to build up villages in Mayarchusetts, Rhode Island, and Connecticut, our own city would have been enlarged real estate been improved, our vacant stores occupied, and the farmers in our vicinity would have felt the fostering influence by the increased price and demand for their productions.

The proper use to make of our errors and mistakes in times past, is to amend and improve for the futive. There is a great convenience in having Boston, a great central point of trade situated near us. But not if we neglect the real advantages we possess at home, and give up to the great focus, our substance without receiving a proportion of its good influence. We may by encouraging manufactures, and business here, - ake, the commending commercial wreatness of

And there is no good reason why we may not make par of Boston as a migans of promoting our manufactures, as we do to promote our commercial interests, instead of allowing her aid to our commercial interests to eat up the powers of our industry. In our commercial interests we are in a great measure independent, and we have gained by becoming so, let us be equally so with our manufacturing interests, and we shall gain still more while Boston will not lose.

Bank of the United State.
It is stated in the Philadelphia Chronicle that the Government of the United States has filed a bill in equity in the U.S. Circuil Court of Pennsylvania against the Bank of the United States, the object of which is to annul all the assignments made by the bank, as fraudulent, and to appoint a receiver to take into his possession the funds of the Bank. NTELLECTUAL DEVELOPEMENTS AND PERSONAL BEAUTY CONSIDERED IN CONNECTION WITH DOCT FELIX GOU-RAUD'S POUDRES SUBTILES.

The sculptor whose study is to imitate the exquisite workmanship of nature, pourtrays in his model of the human form a broad and elevated forehead. This development is not only consonant with, but sometimes necessary to the posses sion of a high order of mental faculty. If a fine forehead is a mark of intellect, it is no less an es sential element of personal beauty, and it is of importance to those and there are many such passessed of this prominent feature though oh scured by the encroschments of a too luxurious growth of hair to remove that portion of an exerescence, which tends, in their case only to deform this can be done safely speedily effectually and if used in accordance with directions, without the least inconvenieuca, by Dr. Fellx Gouraul's Depulatory Powders. The fuize of the lip when annoying, or the short hair on the back of a ladies' nack, when too apparent the hair of a mole or the beard, when hig upon the cheek may all he removed, and eventually the roots destroyed, by
